YOU WANT
ME TO SAVE
YOU FROM...

This panel features a bright, circular light source, similar to the one in the first panel, but with a more defined, spiky border. The light is centered in the frame, and the background is a solid, bright white. The text is positioned in the lower center of the panel.

The background of the comic panel is a dark blue field filled with numerous overlapping circles of varying shades of blue, creating a bokeh effect. A bright, vertical beam of light, transitioning from yellow at the top to blue at the bottom, shines down from the top center. In the bottom left corner, a portion of a character's head and hair is visible, rendered in black and white.
